Motorboat & Yachting: Quintessence Yachts, the company behind the Aston Martin speedboat project, have announced that James Hall, former Sunseeker superyacht sales manager, will be joining the team as sales director.

James Hall, who previously worked as superyacht sales manager at Sunseeker, brings more than 10 years' industry experience to the speedboat project.

"We are determined to provide our clients with first-class services and a true brand experience. James fits perfectly within this picture as he is very customer-oriented and has a strong passion for Aston Martin", said Mariella Mengozzi, CEO of Quintessence Yachts.

The Netherlands-based boat yard is an official Aston Martin licensee and last year revealed the designs for its debut speedboat model, the AM37.

"With the launch of the first, unique AM37 powerboat approaching, this is an exciting time to join the team", said James Hall.

A launch date has yet to be confirmed for the Quintessence AM37, however this key appointment suggests that things are moving in the right direction.
