

LIFESTYLE ASIA

DINING STYLE TRAVEL CULTURE WELLNESS GEAR SCENE

Hot 10

Search

ALL
BK
English
Thai
HK
KL
SG

ALL

All English
BANGKOK
English
Thai
HONG KONG English
KUALA LUMPUR English
SINGAPORE English

LIFESTYLEASIA

DINING STYLE TRAVEL CULTURE WELLNESS GEAR SCENE

Hot 10

Aston Martin and Quintessence's luxe new powerboat

All the luxury of an Aston Martin on the high seas

Aston Martin has dabbled in speedboats with yacht designers, Quintessentially.

Gaby Doman

1 May 2015

Gear, Motors, Tech

Whatever your current wish list is, it's time to re-think it. With the announcement Aston Martin is teaming up with the Netherland's Quintessence Yachts and naval architects Mulder Design, you'll want plenty of room in your budget for a beautiful powerboat series, which is due to debut at the Monaco Boat Show this September.

Long associated with James Bond, it's about time the luxury British car manufacturer created a speedboat for its loyal customers.

The collaboration promises luxury sports car handling on the high seas.

The boat is currently still in the design phases but, if these renderings are anything to go by, it looks as though Aston Martins are as stylish on the high seas as they are on four wheels and customers are promised luxury sports car-like handling, performance and comfort.

Related: Just cruising: Azimut yachts debut in Thailand

The yacht will be a 37 metre AM37 S sport yacht with a maximum speed of 60 knots, while the AM37 — a more luxe model — will reach 50 knots. Taking inspiration from the iconic Aston Martin Vulcan, the yachts will be made of carbon fibre which has been shaped with vacuum infusion technology to create its streamlined shape.

Speedboats have never looked so chic.

Other key features of the powerboats include the Quintessence Yachts '7 series', which features interactive voice control and activation, a fully HD-integrated touch screen with navigation and a multimedia system as well as remote controlled functions.

Aston Martin, www.astonmartin.com

MORE: A classic returns: Aston Martin Lagonda

Tags: Aston Martin, Quintessence, speedboat

Gaby Doman | BK Editor

Gaby is a gym fanatic with a sweet tooth and a penchant for a well-mixed cocktail. Follow her on Twitter at @GabyDoman.

Mi piace Di' che ti piace prima di tutti i tuoi amici.

Share 0

Tweet 2 1 0