

Aston Martin at sea

With its sleek profile and innovative sliding deck, the AM37 looks like it could well be made for James Bond. In taking to the sea, Aston Martin has partnered with Dutch designers Quintessence Yachts to create the world's most luxurious powerboat, laden with handcrafted detail that would not seem out of place in the interior of an Aston Martin sports car. Indeed, many of the features harness developments made in high-end motoring, including technology that allows you to start up the air-conditioning, fridge and espresso machine via remote en route to the dock. The sliding deck, however, is perhaps the most exciting inclusion: an unprecedented addition that allows you to securely cover the entire cockpit of the boat with three carbon panels with just the click of the key. The AM37 is currently under production. www.astonmartin.com www.quintessenceyachts.com
