Aston Martin AM 37 – Luxury and incredible Style on the water

Posted on March 18, 2017 by admin

Aston Martin and Dutch manufacturer of yachts, Quintessence Yachts, designed the yacht that its characteristics resemble on the patterns of famous manufacturer from Britain. It is a luxury vessel which is called Aston Martin AM37 and was presented at the Milan Design Week.

First the powerboat with its renderings was introduced in Gaydon, England, and then last June in Dubai, United Arab Emirates. AM 37 is his first vessel that will bearing the name of Aston Martin, which was developed under the supervision and technical support for Mulder Design, the renowned naval architect based in the Netherlands.

The yacht has a sliding roof that covered the deck and consists of three carbon panels to protect the vessel from various weather conditions. AM 37 comes with a number of options, and the boat have two engines, where each engine count 520 horsepower and a top speed of 52 knots.
