A LOOK INSIDE ASTON MARTIN'S LUXURY YACHT

The AM37 arrives from one of Britain's most prestigious car brands. James Bond would approve...

While car brands have been creating the inside of their new releases to resemble the luxurious cabins of yachts, Aston Martin have instead done just the opposite – launching the AM37 speedboat with an unmistakably Aston-esque interior.

This seriously chic yacht comes complete with mood lighting, air conditioning and a coffee machine. But it's the driver's cabin which most resembles an Aston Martin, with its racing-like steering wheel and touch-screen display. The yacht can hold up to eight people, but be sure to make a beeline for a prime spot on the exquisite cream leather sofa – because in this boat even the driver can navigate from the back seat. There's more clever stuff though, as the yacht can also be controlled via a mobile app!

A bespoke version delivered to Miami for a private client was the result of a collaboration between Aston and Quintessence Yachts. Together, they customised the AM37 to mirror the owner's Aston Martin Vantage sports car. The result was a feat in design with its shimmering blue exterior and plush cream cabin upholstery.

The final offering in the range is the AM37S – a speedboat version. Capable of reaching speeds of 50 knots, it's the ideal option for anyone looking for the ultimate sports driving experience on water. If you're wanting to get your hands on one of these exclusive luxury yachts, the AM37 is on the market from £1.2 million.
