

ASTON MARTIN
AM37 POWERBOAT

The name of the next James Bond remains a mystery, but if there's a boat chase involved, you can bet he'll be in the Aston Martin AM37. Bond's motor of choice for over 50 years, the British mega-marque unveiled its first ever powerboat at this autumn's prestigious Monaco Yacht Show – and, predictably, she's a beauty. Developed in conjunction with Quintessence Yachts, the 37ft day cruiser boasts mood lighting and sports-car styling in addition to the usual superyacht spec, and can be converted into an overnight berth for 007-level spontaneity. What are you waiting for?
